DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Acknowledgment is made of applicant's claim for foreign priority based on an application filed in Swede on 7/14/2000. It is noted, however, that applicant has not filed a certified copy of the Swedish application as required by 35 U.S.C. 119(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 3 and 7-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 3 recites the limitation "the turning disc of the manipulator" in line 2. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Regarding claims 7-9, it is unclear what the applicants' are claiming as the preamble indicates that the claims are in method form, but lack any method limitation language.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1-4, and 7-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Suzuki et al.(US Pat. 4,529,352).

Suzuki et al ('352) discloses a manipulator comprising a plurality of mutually movable arms, a first 13 of said arms being arranged around a first axis and a second of said arms 12 being rotatably arranged around a second axis, cabling 5 extending along the arms which are mutually movable and a supporting device 3a which supports a part of the cabling extending between the first arm 13 and the second arm 12, said supporting device 3a comprising a supporting arm 36 which is rotatably arranged around a third axis and is arranged at the first arm, and a first attachment 33, arranged at an outer end of the supporting arm and surrounding the cabling, wherein the first attachment and the third axis are arranged on opposite sides of the longitudinal axis of the first arm, the supporting arm 36 being arranged to exert a resilient force in the longitudinal direction of the cabling, and the supporting device comprising an auxiliary arm 41 with a second attachment arranged at the second arm 12;

the supporting arm comprises an angled part which permits the cabling to be held stretched centrally over the first arm;

Art Unit: 3682

the auxiliary arm is arranged at a turning disc of the manipulator;
the supporting arm and the auxiliary arm support a bendable tube, in which the cabling is running (inherent).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 5-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Suzuki et al ('352) in view Kizer (US Pat. 5,593,265).

Suzuki et al ('352) discloses the claimed invention except for a spiral spring biaser for the support arm, or said spiral spring having a housing.

Kizer (US Pat. 5,593,265) discloses a spiral spring for biasing a support member relative to a base, said spiral spring housed in a container.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have utilized the spiral spring of Kizer (US Pat. 5,593,265) within the supporting device of Suzuki et al ('352) as an obvious variant to the leap spring 36.

FACSIMILE TRANSMISSION

Submission of your response by facsimile transmission is encouraged. Group 3600's facsimile number is (703) 305-3597. Recognizing the fact that reducing cycle time in the processing and examination of patent applications will effectively increase a patent's term, it is to your benefit to submit responses by facsimile transmission whenever permissible. Such submission will place the response directly in our examining group's hands and will eliminate Post Office processing and delivery time as well as the PTO's mail room processing and delivery time. For a complete list of correspondence not permitted by facsimile transmission, see MEP. 502.01. In general, most responses and/or amendments not requiring a fee, as well as those requiring a fee but charging such fee to a deposit account, can be submitted by facsimile transmission. Responses requiring a fee which applicant is paying by check should not be submitting by facsimile transmission separately from the check.

Responses submitted by facsimile transmission should include a Certificate of Transmission (MEP. 512). The following is an example of the format the certification might take:

I hereby certify that this correspondence is being facsimile transmitted to the Patent and Trademark Office (Fax No. (703) 305-3597) on _____

Typed or printed name of person signing this certificate:

Art Unit: 3682

(Signature)

If your response is submitted by facsimile transmission, you are hereby reminded that the original should be retained as evidence of authenticity (37 CFR 1.4 and MEP. 502.02). Please do not separately mail the original or another copy unless required by the Patent and Trademark Office. Submission of the original response or a follow-up copy of the response after your response has been transmitted by facsimile will only cause further unnecessary delays in the processing of your application; duplicate responses where fees are charged to a deposit account may result in those fees being charged twice.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
